If you have a passion for working with nature, people and technological equipment, a love for the game of golf and making decisions concerning the environment, you may consider becoming a part of the exciting world within the golf industry as a GCSAA superintendent

Golf Course management is a profession with a lot of variety. A golf course superintendent enjoys an attractive employment setting with frequent opportunities to be outdoors on the golf course.

GCSAA sponsors a collegiate Turfbowl at the Golf Industry Show each year. Over 60 teams from around the United States battle it out to win the coveted Turf Trophy!

About GCSAA

Since 1926, GCSAA has been the top professional association for the men and women who manage golf courses in the United States and worldwide. From its headquarters in Lawrence, KS, the association provides education, information and representation to more than 18,000 members in more than 75 countries. GCSAA's mission is to serve its members, advance their profession and enhance the enjoyment, growth and vitality of the game of golf.

To find out more about the profession and see if this is the career for you, contact a superintendent at a nearby golf course and consider working there, or visit gcsaa.org from more information.

Scholarships

GCSAA believes in investing in the future of the profession. To ensure this, GCSAA's philanthropic arm, the Environmental Institute for Golf, administers a number of different scholarships for students pursuing careers in the golf course industry, future turfgrass researchers and educators, children and grandchildren of GCSAA members, and foreign students studying in the United States.
